

At the invitation of the Kemah Historical Society, the League City Historical Society met at the newly restored Kemah Schoolhouse for their March meeting.

The special guest was Dr. Stevenson Holmes, the great grandson of Warren W. White, who was the speaker. Warren White served in the U.S. Colored Troops during the Civil War and was subsequently a Buffalo Soldier. His story is a fascinating one.

Dr. Holmes is a former public school teacher and government worker with a Doctorate of Education in Curriculum and Instruction from the University of Northern Colorado. He is also a former U S Air Force Captain. He was born in Temple, Texas but grew up in Denver where he resided for fifty years. He has lived in Pearland for the last five years.

Family Trees

The April 14th meeting of the League City Genealogical Society will feature Heather Wooten. Her program is "Voices of Fairview Cemetery: A History of the Japanese Settlers in Webster and League City." The meeting begins at 7 PM at the Methodist Church across from Kelley's Restaurant.
